The company Electric Sales & Service Ltd. was incorporated in 1936 by Mr. Lawrence Bancroft and seven small shareholders with a modest capital, engaged in the distribution and service of General Electric products. This was the company's first agency, at a time before electricity was widely available in the island of Barbados, GE is still held today.

During its 80 plus years of operation, the company has seen many changes. The company expanded into heavy earth moving equipment in 1939 with the acquisition of the Caterpillar agency and then Massey-Ferguson in 1945. In 1960 a retail location was established in Bridgetown primarily selling GE appliances. With this new venture, the electrical division was born and growth commenced.

In 1965 the company was sold to USI. (United States Industries), a large American company, and was incorporated under its worldwide umbrella. USI during the 1970's ranked in the top 100 manufacturing companies in the US with sales of over US $1.5B in 1973.

In 1977 USI decided to pull out of the Caribbean and the company was split into two divisions, mechanical and electrical. The mechanical division was sold to Plantrac Ltd, a division of Neal & Massy. The electrical division was sold to a local concern and the name Electric Sales & Service Ltd. was revived.

The electrical division concentrated on household appliances, air-conditioning, refrigeration and vertical transportation. Today we have continued with these products and many of the product lines still exist such as GE, Otis and Trane.

In 1993 the company was sold to Barbadians who remain to this date as the single largest stake holder.

The company has in recent times focused on the consolidation of its product lines, retraining its staff both in procedure and technical knowledge and in retooling the business for the decades ahead.

Today the company enjoys many excellent associations with only the highest quality suppliers. Many of these relationships go back thirty plus years and this is reinforced by the trust and support received by the company. Our key suppliers and a basic description are:
